

"International Relations strikes a wonderful balance between providing students with factual knowledge about what is going on in the world and the theoretical tools necessary to make sense of it all. Clearly written, well organized, and up-to-the-minute, it is a terrific introduction to the field."

—ANDREW KYDD, University of Wisconsin–Madison

"Students have realized that women—as factory workers, as peace activists, as political thinkers—need to be discussed in IR courses. Goldstein and Pevehouse's up-to-the-minute, engaging introductory text responds to this need."

—CYNTHIA ENLOE, Clark University

"Goldstein and Pevehouse have written a unique text that is a perfect fit not just for introductory international relations courses but also for multidisciplinary international studies courses. Better than anyone, they sensibly combine political science, economics, history, and more with plenty of illustrative regional examples to help my students build a comprehensive picture of the world."

—DAVID BEARCE, University of Colorado–Boulder

International Relations

TENTH EDITION

JOSHUA S. GOLDSTEIN

JON C. PEVEHOUSE

The best-selling text in its field, International Relations wins praise for being the most current and comprehensive introduction to international relations theory as well as security, economic, and global issues. From war and trade to human rights and the environment, this survey explores relations among states and the influence of transnational actors and events. Applying a broad range of theoretical perspectives to show students how to analyze current events, International Relations offers the best tools for understanding what is happening in the world today.

- The most up-to-date analysis of world affairs available in any introductory text helps students become more informed of political, economic, and cultural events throughout the world.
- A new Chapter 4, "Foreign Policy," surveys models of foreign policy decision-making and underscores how domestic politics influences international relations in both positive and negative ways.
- Chapter 6, "Military Force and Terrorism," includes a more in-depth discussion of counter-terrorism.
- Chapter 7, "International Organization, Law, and Human Rights," surveys important international human rights institutions.
- Chapter 9, "Global Finance and Business," evaluates the role of migrant remittances in the global economy and provides an update on China's rise in the global economic structure.
- Chapter 10, "International Integration," discusses the changes to EU rules and procedures resulting from the Lisbon Treaty.

- Chapter 13, "International Development," reconsiders foreign aid in light of the significant research and controversies that have occurred in the last five years.
- A new boxed feature, "Seeking the Collective Good," returns to the book's core theme—the collective goods problem. Each chapter presents an example of a collective good that states want and shows how the three core principles—dominance, reciprocity, and identity—are used to provide it.
- Every table and figure features the most recent data.
- Dozens of new photos reflect major events from the last year while reinforcing key concepts in the text.

Readings in International Relations pairs writings on international relations theory with writings on current events to help students explore the relationship between concept and application.

MyPoliSciKit for International Relations features multimedia and interactive activities to help students connect concepts to current events and to help instructors follow students' learning. Use ISBN 0-205-07406-5 to order this book with MyPoliSciKit at no extra charge. To learn more, please visit www.mypoliscikit.com or contact your Pearson representative.

Find a collection of learning tools at this book's open-access Companion Website: www.internationalrelations.com.

Longman
is an imprint of

PEARSON

www.pearsonhighered.com

PEARSON
Longman

GOLDSTEIN
PEVEHOUSE

International Relations

TENTH EDITION

International Relations

TENTH EDITION

JOSHUA S. GOLDSTEIN

JON C. PEVEHOUSE